

LAW ENFORCEMENT ACTION PARTNERSHIP

ADVANCING JUSTICE AND PUBLIC SAFETY SOLUTIONS

Former Officer Peter Moskos

Baltimore Police Department
New York, NY

Peter Moskos was a Baltimore City Police Officer assigned to patrol on the midnight shift in the high-crime Eastern District, an area known to many from the HBO series The Wire.

Moskos left the police force to return to his graduate studies in sociology. He received his B.A. from Princeton University (1994) and his Ph.D. from Harvard University (2004). He's currently a professor of Law and Police Science at John Jay College of Criminal Justice in New York City.

He is the author of the award winning and critically acclaimed Cop in the Hood, published by Princeton University Press. Moskos argues that the War on Drugs has created a new policing paradigm. His current research focuses on police, crime prevention, and public policies that actually succeed at improving quality of life and saving lives.

Law Enforcement Action Partnership is a nonprofit organization composed of police, prosecutors, judges, and other criminal justice professionals who use their expertise to advance drug policy and criminal justice reforms that improve public safety. With 150 speakers across the United States, LEAP representatives reach millions of Americans each year through educational programs and media interviews.
