

LAW ENFORCEMENT ACTION PARTNERSHIP

ADVANCING JUSTICE AND PUBLIC SAFETY SOLUTIONS

Sara Love

Board Member
Bethesda, MD

Sara Love has spent her career as a social justice advocate. Early in her law career she worked on a nationwide case against anti-choice extremists who used force, threats and violence to shut down women's health care clinics. From there she became general counsel to nine clinics and worked with federal, state, and local law enforcement across the country on addressing threats to medical personnel and clinics, and how to protect them under the Freedom of Access to Clinic Entrances Act (FACE). She then joined NARAL Pro-Choice America and became their General Counsel and Legal Director where she worked on federal reproductive rights policy and led a staff to support affiliates across the country working on state policy.

Most recently Sara was the Public Policy Director for the ACLU of Maryland, where she led their policy and legislative work for four years. During that time, she worked on many issues including reproductive rights, racial justice, public funding for public schools, criminal justice reform, saner drug policies, technology and privacy, the First Amendment, open government and accountability, and voting rights. Together with LEAP and the Marijuana Policy Project, she founded and ran the Maryland Cannabis Policy Coalition.

Sara graduated from Princeton University and Northwestern University School of Law.

Law Enforcement Action Partnership is a nonprofit organization composed of police, prosecutors, judges, and other criminal justice professionals who use their expertise to advance drug policy and criminal justice reforms that improve public safety. With 150 speakers across the United States, LEAP representatives reach millions of Americans each year through educational programs and media interviews.
