

LAW ENFORCEMENT ACTION PARTNERSHIP

ADVANCING JUSTICE AND PUBLIC SAFETY SOLUTIONS

Sgt. John Tommasi (Ret.)
Salem Police Department, New Hampshire
Salem, NH

John Tommasi joined the Salem Police Department in New Hampshire in 1979 and became a sergeant only four years later. By 1987, he had been assigned to the New Hampshire Drug Task Force. He spent two years undercover for the state's attorney general in order to apprehend individuals involved in drug trafficking.

John holds a B.A. in Psychology, an M.B.A., and an M.A. in Economics from the University of New Hampshire.

Since 1981, John has been a college and university professor. He is currently a part-time professor at the University of New Hampshire, Whittemore School of Business and a full-time professor at Bentley College.

The Law Enforcement Action Partnership is a nonprofit organization composed of police, prosecutors, judges, and other criminal justice professionals who use their expertise to advance drug policy and criminal justice solutions that improve public safety. With 150 speakers across the United States, LEAP representatives reach millions of Americans each year through educational programs and media interviews..
