

LAW ENFORCEMENT ACTION PARTNERSHIP

ADVANCING JUSTICE AND PUBLIC SAFETY SOLUTIONS

Chief Deputy Matthew Fogg (Ret.)

U.S. Marshals Service

Washington, D.C.

Matthew Fogg joined the U.S. Marshals Service (U.S.M.S.) in 1978 and soon became a highly decorated federal law officer. He was cross-designated a Supervisory Special Agent in charge of a U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration joint drug and gun interdiction Metropolitan Area Task Force. He was later promoted to Inspector in charge of the U.S.M.S. unit for the International Criminal Police Organization, the world's largest international police organization. He received the District of Columbia, U.S. Attorney, and Federal Bar Association's highest law enforcement awards for tracking down over 300 of America's most-wanted and dangerous fugitives charged with prison escape, murder, rape, child molestation and illegal narcotic trafficking in the U.S. and abroad.

Fogg's advocacy for L.E.A.P. and for equal justice under the law has allowed him to provide expert commentary for T.V., radio, and print media. He holds leadership positions in three nonprofit government watchdog organizations. He is also the chapter president for the Heritage Chapter of Blacks In Government (B.I.G.) and the National Equal Employment Opportunity director for the F.E.W. Legal & Education Fund, Inc.

The Law Enforcement Action Partnership is a nonprofit organization composed of police, prosecutors, judges, and other criminal justice professionals who use their expertise to advance drug policy and criminal justice solutions that improve public safety.
