

LAW ENFORCEMENT ACTION PARTNERSHIP

ADVANCING JUSTICE AND PUBLIC SAFETY SOLUTIONS

Superintendent Christine Elow
Cambridge Police Department, Massachusetts
Cambridge, MA

Superintendent Christine Elow served in the U.S. Navy for four years before beginning her law enforcement career in 1995 as an officer with the Cambridge Police Department. She served in the Patrol Division and oversaw the Professional Standards Unit, where she was responsible for receiving, processing, and investigating complaints made against members of the department. She later served as Deputy Superintendent for Day Patrol and Community Services.

In 2017, Elow was appointed Superintendent, making her the highest ranking female officer in the history of the department. She is a strong proponent of community-driven policing and an expert in the use of body cameras, juvenile justice issues, procedural justice, and police training and hiring practices.

The Law Enforcement Action Partnership is a nonprofit organization composed of police, prosecutors, judges, and other criminal justice professionals who use their expertise to advance drug policy and criminal justice solutions that improve public safety. With 150 speakers across the United States, LEAP representatives reach millions of Americans each year through educational programs and media interviews..
