

LAW ENFORCEMENT ACTION PARTNERSHIP

ADVANCING JUSTICE AND PUBLIC SAFETY SOLUTIONS

Officer Brian Gaughan (Ret.)
Iowa & Illinois Police
Arlington Heights, IL

Brian Gaughan was a police officer for 11 years, first in Davenport, Iowa, and then in his native Chicago area where his responsibilities included patrol assignments and narcotics investigations. He then served as a firefighter/paramedic until 2011, when he was injured on a call and forced to take medical retirement. He also had a long career in labor organizing, leading his Iowa police department to join the Fraternal Order of Police, and serving as President of the firefighters' union for 10 years.

Brian became disillusioned with the War on Drugs as an undercover officer. One incident in particular made him question his service. “The mother of a suspect I was making cocaine purchases from told me she wanted to thank me for becoming her son’s friend. She said that after the death of his father, he had fallen in with the wrong crowd, and she was glad to see that I was now his new friend. She could tell that I was a good person and would be a positive influence in his life. Little did she know that not only was I not his friend, I was building a case against him that would send him to prison.”

The Law Enforcement Action Partnership is a nonprofit organization composed of police, prosecutors, judges, and other criminal justice professionals who use their expertise to advance drug policy and criminal justice solutions that improve public safety. With 150 speakers across the United States, LEAP representatives reach millions of Americans each year through educational programs and media interviews..
