Governor Mike Parson
216 State Capitol
P.O. Box 720
Jefferson City, MO 65102

Dear Governor Parson:

As you know, public health officials are warning that COVID-19 transmission in correctional facilities poses a potentially catastrophic risk. Transmission between prisoners, officers, and staff would quickly spread outside the facilities to the families of officers and released prisoners, accelerating the pandemic. We have watched governors act on this issue in Colorado and New Jersey. Tragically, efforts in New York are coming too late, as Rikers Island is already facing an unmanageable crisis. As current and former police, judges, prosecutors, and corrections officials, we are writing to urge you to issue an executive order to address this risk. A sample executive order is attached to illustrate our recommendations.

There is strong public support for dramatically reducing jail and prison populations to slow the spread of the coronavirus. Sixty-six percent of likely voters, including 59% of those who identify as “very conservative,” said that elected officials should be considering measures to reduce populations in prisons and jails as a response to coronavirus.<sup>1</sup> Criminal justice leaders are already taking action to safely reduce correctional populations.<sup>2</sup>

It is challenging for our cities and counties to respond effectively to this crisis, since it requires so many different agencies to coordinate. Our justice system needs state-level guidance in order to act swiftly, properly allocate resources, and minimize casualties.

We write to you as the sole actor with the authority to achieve system-level results with clarity, consistency, and vision. We suggest three steps you could take right now to prevent the spread of COVID-19 in correctional facilities and beyond:

1. Release medically high-risk people in state custodial facilities. We urge you to use your clemency powers to begin a process of immediate review and presumptive release for all people identified by the CDC as particularly at-risk – older people and people with underlying health conditions or who are otherwise immune-compromised – whose sentences would end in the next two years and who do not pose a significant public safety risk.

2. Reduce overall populations in state custodial facilities. Using your clemency powers, begin a process of immediate review and presumptive release for:
  - a. anyone incarcerated for technical violations of probation or parole, and/or
  - b. anyone whose sentence would end in the next 180 days.

3. Reduce medically high-risk and overall populations in local custodial facilities. Direct local stakeholders, including police, prosecutors, and judges, to take concrete steps to reduce the intake of people into local custodial facilities. These steps would include:
  - a. stopping arrests for low-level offenses and issuing citations in lieu of arrest for other offenses,
  - b. suspending the use of cash bail and limiting pretrial detention to cases with a significant risk of flight or charges indicating high risk of violent reoffending, and
  - c. setting conditions of release that allow incarcerated people to care for family at risk for COVID-19.

The time for action is now. This pandemic is here, and – if it hasn't already – it will make its way into our state's carceral facilities. Attached to this letter is a draft Executive Order that you could sign to immediately to address this crisis head-on.
